This Friday marks the first time in 14 weeks that there will be no RuPaul's Drag Race, and if that leaves a gaping void in your heart, we totally feel you. But fear not, squirrel friends! Some of the series' greatest queens are hitting NYC this summer, and you can get your fix of fierceness by seeing your favorite gals perform in person. So put on your reading glasses, get yourself a big cup of T and sashay away to these upcoming events featuring the stars of Drag Race.

Bushwig 2017

Bushwick's most spectacular day of the year is back for its fifth year for a full weekend of avant-garde gender-smashing performances. Past performers have included Maddy Beats/Horrorchata, Charlene, Sasha Velour, Latrice Royale and other favorites from the borough and beyond.
